THINK OF ANOTHER - Fall is upon us and shortly, winter will be here. These are the times when families seem busier than normal. Some are planning family gatherings, friends luncheons, texting, leaving voice mails, sending cards, notes and letters to simply let someone know that you are thinking of them, praying for them, and sending support while separated. No matter how people reach out to one another, it is the thought that matters. One of our young adults is away from home and family and should you have a moment to reach out to say hello, send encouragement, or have a prayer with him, it would make his day...
